MEMORANDUM ON THE OBJECTS OF THE COMPETITION AMENDMENT BILL, 2018

1. INTRODUCTION

- 1.1 The Competition Act, 1998 (Act No. 89 of 1998) (“the Act”), provides the legislative framework for the regulation of competition in the South African economy. The Act sets up independent competition authorities to investigate and penalise anti-competitive conduct and regulate mergers and acquisitions.
- 1.2 In addition, there are numerous public interest issues, such as employment and the promotion of small and medium businesses and firms that are owned or controlled by historically disadvantaged persons that must be considered together with the competition issues.

2. OBJECTS OF THE BILL

- 2.1 The main objective of these amendments is to address two persistent structural constraints on the South African economy, namely, the high levels of economic concentration in the economy and the skewed ownership profile of the economy.
- 2.2 This is done through—
 - (a) strengthening or clarifying the provisions of the Act relating to prohibited practices, restricted horizontal and vertical practices, abuse of dominance and price discrimination and mergers;
 - (b) requiring special attention to be given to the impact of anti-competitive conduct on small and medium businesses and firms owned or controlled by historically disadvantaged persons;
 - (c) strengthening the provisions relating to market inquiries so that—
 - (i) the outcomes of these inquiries result in action that promotes competition;
 - (ii) there is guidance on how to evaluate the adverse features of a market; and
 - (iii) requiring special attention on small and medium businesses and firms owned by historically disadvantaged persons;
 - (d) providing the national executive with effective means of participating in competition related proceedings and the power to initiate market inquiries into a sector and to intervene in mergers that affect the national security interests of the Republic; and
 - (e) promoting the administrative efficacy of the Competition Commission (“Commission”), market inquiries and the Competition Tribunal (“Tribunal”).

3. SUMMARY OF PROVISIONS OF THE BILL

3.1 Clause 1

- 3.1.1 Clause 1 of the Bill seeks to insert the definitions of “average avoidable cost” and “average variable cost” in section 1 of the Act.
- 3.1.2 The clause seeks to delete the definition of “excessive price”. The definition was not helpful. Instead, the introduction of the proposed section 8(3) provides guidance on how an excessive price should be determined.
- 3.1.3 The clause seeks to amend the definition of “exclusionary act” by expanding its ambit to include not only barriers to entry and expansion within a market, but also to participation in a market. In the interests of greater clarity, the term “participate” is also defined.

- 3.1.4 The clause seeks to insert the definition of “foreign acquiring firm” in section 1 of the Act, which is required for the proposed new section 18A of the Act.
- 3.1.5 The clause seeks to insert the definition of “margin squeeze” in section 1 of the Act, which is important in determining whether a dominant firm has abused its dominance by engaging in exclusionary acts. See the proposed amendments to section 8 (1)(d)(vi).
- 3.1.6 The clause seeks to insert the definition of “medium-sized business” in section 1 of the Act to refer to a medium-sized firm as determined by the Minister by notice in the Gazette.
- 3.1.7 As noted above, the clause seeks to insert the definition of “participate” in section 1 of the Act.
- 3.1.8 The clause seeks to insert the definition of “predatory price” with reference to the concepts of “average avoidable cost” and “average variable cost”, which are defined as noted above. These definitions are important in determining whether a dominant firm has abused its dominance by engaging in exclusionary acts. See the proposed amendments to section 8(1)(d)(iv).
- 3.1.9 Clause 1 also seeks to update the definitions of “Minister” and “small business”. It seeks to introduce the definition “small and medium businesses”.
- 3.1.10 Lastly, the clause seeks to insert the definition of “worker” with reference to the Labour Relations Act, 1995 (Act No. 66 of 1995), and in relation to broad-based worker ownership.

3.2 Clauses 2, 3 and 4

- 3.2.1 Clause 2 of the Bill seeks to amend section 2 of the Act by substituting paragraph (g) thereof to effect a technical correction.
- 3.2.2 Clause 3 of the Bill deals with a proposed amendment to section 4(1)(b)(ii) which reflects the factual position that collusive agreements in concentrated markets may be achieved and monitored through the allocation of market shares.
- 3.2.3 Clause 3 further seeks to deal with the proposed new sections 4(6) and 5(4) of the Act which require the Commission to publish guidelines regarding the application of section 4 (restrictive horizontal practices) and section 5 (restrictive vertical practices) respectively.
- 3.2.4 Guidelines concerning these prohibited practices are common in other countries. They will promote clarity, consistency and certainty regarding the application of these sections.
- 3.2.5 Clause 4 of the Bill seeks to add subsection (4) to the Act to require the Commission to publish guidelines regarding the application of section 5, in terms of section 79 of the Act.

3.3 Clause 5

- 3.3.1 Clause 5 of the Bill seeks to substitute section 8 of the Act. Section 8 prohibits abuse of dominance by a firm that is dominant in a market.¹ Section 8 is especially important when dealing with concentrated markets.

¹ Section 7 outlines when a firm is a dominant firm.

- 3.3.2 In paragraph (a) (which the Bill proposes to make subsection (1)(a)), the reference to “consumers” is replaced with “customers”. It is not only consumers that should be protected from excessive prices, but all customers involved in commercial transactions.
- 3.3.3 Subsection (1)(d)(ii) widens the ambit of the subsection to include “services” and widens its application to not only competitors, but also to customers.
- 3.3.4 Subsection (1)(d)(iv) prohibits predatory pricing.² A predatory price is determined with respect to average avoidable cost or average variable cost.³ The inclusion of these standard economic benchmarks is important because the failure of a dominant firm to cover its average avoidable cost or average variable cost suggests that the dominant firm is sacrificing profits in the short-term, and therefore, may be involved in exclusionary conduct.
- 3.3.5 In order to foster clarity, consistency and certainty, the Competition Commission is required in section 8(4) to publish guidelines setting out the relevant factors and benchmarks for determining whether the charging of predatory prices impedes the ability of a non-dominant firm, especially a small and medium business or a firm owned or controlled by historically disadvantaged persons to participate in a market.
- 3.3.6 Subsection (1)(d)(vi) is inserted to include the practice of engaging in a margin squeeze. Subsection (1)(d)(vii) is introduced to protect suppliers to dominant firms, especially small and medium businesses or a firm owned or controlled by historically disadvantaged persons, from being required, through the abuse of dominance, to sell their goods or services at prices that impede their ability to participate effectively. This seeks to address the problem of monopolies.
- 3.3.7 Subsection (2) is inserted to place the burden on the dominant firm to show that the price is reasonable after a prima facie case is established.
- 3.3.8 The determination of excessive prices is complex and often case specific. Subsection (3) provides a list of relevant factors to take into account and provides the Commission with the power to issue guidelines on how to determine excessive prices.

3.4 Clause 6

- 3.4.1 Clause 6 of the Bill seeks to amend section 9 of the Act. Section 9 deals with price discrimination by a dominant firm.
- 3.4.2 To prove price discrimination, it requires the complainant to prove, amongst others, that the price discrimination is “likely to have the effect of substantially preventing or lessening competition” (section 9(1)(a)). The inclusion of the word “substantially” has meant that small and medium businesses are often unable to show prohibited price discrimination because the effect on small businesses is not considered to be “substantial” prevention of lessening competition. This means that at present, section 9 favours complainants that are large firms because they can more easily demonstrate a substantial effect. Therefore, the Bill proposes the deletion of the word “substantially” from subsection (1)(a).

3.4.3 Subsection (3) requires the dominant firm to show that its action of price differentiation does not impede the participation of small and medium businesses and firms owned or controlled by historically disadvantaged persons.

3.4.4 The addition of subsection (4) means that the prohibition of price discrimination will also apply to a dominant firm vis-a-vis its suppliers.

3.5 Clause 7

3.5.1 Clause 7 of the Bill seeks to amend section 10 of the Act. The amendment to section 10(3)(b)(ii) makes the entry, participation in and expansion of small and medium businesses and firms owned or controlled by historically disadvantaged persons an important consideration in the process of determining exemptions. This will also address the concern that these firms frequently exit the market.

3.5.2 The proposed new section 10(3)(b)(iv) provides an additional ground for the Commission to exempt an agreement or practice, or a category of agreements or practices, from the application of Chapter 2 of the Act. This ground is “competitiveness and efficiency gains that promote employment or industrial expansion”.

3.5.3 The amendment to section 10(3)(b)(v) extends the set of objectives in which an exemption from the application of Chapter 2 may be granted to include the economic development, growth and transformation of an industry designated by the Minister.

3.5.4 The new section 10(10) empowers the Minister to exempt an agreement or practice, or a category of agreements or practices from the application of Chapter 2 through the promulgation of regulations. These exemptions must give effect to the purposes of the Act, which are set out in section 2.

3.6 Clause 8

3.6.1 Clause 8 of the Bill seeks to repeal Chapter 2A of the Act. Section 10A dealt with the prohibition or regulation of a complex monopoly in the current Act. This provision has not come into operation. This section is complex and is likely to be the subject of substantial litigation, including constitutional attacks upon its validity. It is also rigid and does not effectively deal with concentrated markets.

3.6.2 The strengthening of the market inquiry provisions is a better way to deal with the problem of concentration. The problem associated with complex monopolies is incorporated into the meaning of adverse effects upon competition, which is set out in the new amended section 43A.

3.7.1 Clause 9 of the Bill seeks to amend section 12A of the Act. The deletion of subsection (1)(b) and the insertion of subsection (1A) means that when the Competition Commission and Tribunal consider a merger which they conclude will not substantially prevent or lessen competition, they must still consider the public interest issues relating to the merger. The reason for this is that the merger may need to be prevented, or conditions attached to it, where there are negative public interest outcomes from the contemplated merger. This amendment gives better effect to the jurisprudence and to the initial meaning of section 12A(1).

3.7.2 The addition of paragraphs (i) to (k) in subsection (2) means that consideration must be given to cross-ownership and cross-directorships of the merging parties and the merged entity as well previous mergers engaged in by one or more of the parties to the merger. These are the mechanisms by which unseen, creeping concentration, and the erection and maintenance of strategic barriers to entry are possible.

3.7.3 The proposed amendments to subsection (3) seek to explicitly create public interest grounds in merger control that deal with ownership, control and the support of small and medium businesses and firms owned or controlled by historically disadvantaged persons as well as the ownership in firms by workers in those firms.

3.8 Clause 10

Clause 10 of the Bill seeks to amend section 15 of the Act. Section 15 regulates the Commission's powers to revoke its approval of an intermediate merger. Revoking approval of a merger is in many cases a drastic remedy and may in certain circumstances be inappropriate or impractical. This amendment provides that the Commission may make an appropriate order regarding any condition imposed upon the merger, including those relating to employment, small and medium businesses and firms owned or controlled by historically disadvantaged persons.

3.9 Clause 11

Clause 11 seeks to amend section 16 of the Act. The amendment provides the Tribunal with a similar power to make any appropriate order regarding any condition relating to a merger, including the issues referred to in section 12A(3)(b) and (c).

3.10 Clause 12

Clause 12 of the Bill seeks to amend section 17 of the Act. This amendment provides the Commission and, in defined circumstances, the Minister with the right of appeal against a merger decision of the Tribunal. This amendment addresses a lacuna in the Act.

3.11 Clause 13

Clause 13 of the Bill seeks to insert the new section 18A in the Act. This amendment provides the President the powers to constitute a Committee comprised of Ministers and officials determined and appointed by the President with powers to intervene in respect to a merger where the acquiring firm is foreign, and the merger may adversely affect the country's national security interests. The amendment also provides for the determination of national security interests as well as the issuing of regulations that will govern access to information, including confidential information, and the process, procedures and timeframes associated with the consideration of these kinds of mergers. The Minister is required to publish a notice in the Gazette on any decisions taken by the Committee and to submit the Committee's report and decisions to the National Assembly.

3.12 Clause 14

Clause 14 of the Bill seeks to amend section 19 of the Act. This amendment provides that the Commission will have at least two Deputy Commissioners. One or more part-time or full-time Deputy Commissioners will be responsible for market inquiries. See the amendment to section 23 (2).

Clause 15 of the Bill seeks to amend section 21 of the Act. Section 21 sets out the functions of the Commission. The amendments provide for functions relating to the conducting of market inquiries and impact studies, the development of a leniency policy and making decisions about leniency applications, and the issuing of guidelines and advisory opinions. The functions relating to leniency applications give effect to case law.

3.14 Clause 16

3.14.1 Clause 16 of the Bill seeks to insert a new section 21A in the Act. This proposed amendment creates a new power for the Commission to study the impact of earlier decisions by the Commission, Tribunal or Competition Appeal Court. This power enhances the Commission's advocacy powers.

3.14.2 The studies will provide valuable insights into the impact of the Act, on the competitiveness of South African markets and inform future action or approaches, including measures to enhance competition, whether in mergers, market inquiries or enforcement cases.

3.15 Clause 17

Clause 17 of the Bill seeks to amend section 22 of the Act. Section 22 provides for the appointment of the Competition Commissioner and specifies the Commissioner's general duties. The amendment provides the Competition Commissioner with the power to determine delegations of authority. As this delegation of statutory powers is given to the Commissioner by virtue of his or her appointment by the Minister, provision is made for consultation with the Minister before the delegations come into effect.

3.16 Clause 18

Clause 18 of the Bill seeks to amend section 23 of the Act. This amendment provides for the appointment of one or more part-time or full-time Deputy Commissioners who will be responsible for market inquiries.

3.17 Clause 19

Clause 19 of the Bill seeks to amend section 25 of the Act. This amendment provides designated staff members of the Commission with rights of appearance in courts of law.

3.18 Clause 20

Clause 20 of the Bill seeks to amend section 26 of the Act. Section 26 deals with the constitution of the Tribunal. The amendment provides for the appointment of acting Tribunal members. This is necessary in the light of the Tribunal's workload during particular periods.

3.19 Clause 21

Clause 21 of the Bill seeks to amend section 31 of the Act. Section 31 regulates Tribunal proceedings. The amendments limit the number of acting Tribunal members hearing any matter and extends the kinds of matters that a single Tribunal member may hear and determine. These matters are limited to issues of interlocutory applications such as applications relating to time periods, access to information and discovery of documents. The Tribunal's Chairperson is empowered to determine when an application does not warrant three people. This should assist with the Tribunal's efficiency and workload.

3.20 Clause 22

- 3.20.1 Clause 22 of the Bill seeks to amend section 43A of the Act. A market inquiry's focus is on the general state of competition, levels of concentration and the structure of a market, rather than on the conduct of a particular firm. It seeks to identify features of the market that impede, restrict or distort competition in a market. This distinguishes the market inquiry process from the Commission's initiation of complaints for investigation and possible referral to the Tribunal.
- 3.20.2 The amendments proposed to section 43A of the Act will enhance the market inquiry process and will ensure that its outcomes include measures to address concentration, the promotion of small and medium businesses and the transformation of ownership.
- 3.20.3 These mechanisms are similar to those in other jurisdictions elsewhere in the world, which have had some success at addressing structural issues in markets.
- 3.20.4 As with the merger control regime, the Commission's potential findings and actions following a market inquiry are binding, unless challenged in the Tribunal. The notable exception to this is divestiture, which is only competently imposed by the Tribunal on the recommendation of the Commission. Given the far-reaching nature of this remedy, this is appropriate. Time limits are desirable for this process to avoid it becoming an iterative process without end.
- 3.20.5 The amendments to section 43A (3)(b) identify three types of market features that may be relevant to the market inquiry: (a) structure, including the level and trends of concentration in a market; (b) outcomes observed in the market, including the level and trends of concentration in a market; or, (c) conduct by either suppliers or customers in the market. It also includes provisions similar to the complex monopoly provisions of the section 10A of the Competition Amendment Act, 2009 (Act No. 1 of 2009), which has never come into effect.

- 3.21.1 Clause 23 seeks to amend section 43B of the Act. The amendments provide that the Commission or the Minister may establish a market inquiry.
- 3.21.2 The remainder of section 43B sets out the procedures and processes to be followed for a market inquiry. It identifies the powers available to the Competition Commission for the conduct of the inquiry, sets the applicable time limits for the inquiry, and provides for the amendment of the terms of reference or time limits for the completion of an inquiry. The section also provides firms with protections relating to access to confidential information.
- 3.21.3 Regarding the confidentiality of information provided during a market inquiry, the Commission is empowered to determine whether a claim of confidentiality is appropriate in the first instance. If the Commission determines that the party's claim of confidentiality is invalid, the aggrieved party may appeal to the Tribunal.

3.22 Clause 24

Clause 24 of the Bill seeks to repeal section 43C of the Bill. The section is replaced by a new section and its provisions are moved to the new section 43E of the Act, in amended form.

3.23 Clause 25

- 3.23.1 Clause 25 inserts new sections 43C to 43G in the Act. The proposed new section 43C requires the Commission to consider and expressly decide on specific issues. This imposes a discipline on the market inquiry to ensure that it maintains focus.
- 3.23.2 This section requires the Commission to consider whether there are structural features of a market that have an adverse effect on competition, which include levels of concentration and barriers to entry for, in particular, small and medium businesses and firms owned or controlled by historically disadvantaged persons.
- 3.23.3 It also requires the inquiry to consider whether the Commission should impose a remedy, and if so, to decide upon a remedy.
- 3.23.4 The proposed new section 43D places a duty on the Commission to remedy structural features identified as having an adverse effect on competition in a market, including the use of divestiture orders. The Commission's actions must be reasonable and practicable taking into account relevant factors such as those listed in subsection (4).
- 3.23.5 The proposed new section 43E re-enacts the section 43C indicated as being repealed above, in amended form. This amendment reinforces the duty on the Commission to make decisions regarding structural features identified as having an adverse effect of competition in a market. It also provides persons who are materially and adversely affected by a decision, with the right to be heard.
- 3.23.6 The proposed new section 43F enables an appeal (rather than a review) to the Tribunal against any decision taken by the Commission arising from the market inquiry. This enables the Tribunal to consider the merits of the Commission's decision and remedial action following a market inquiry, while limiting it to the record used by the Commission.
- 3.23.7 This prevents a reconsideration and replication of the market inquiry before the Tribunal. This should reduce the delays and litigious challenges to the market inquiry process.
- 3.23.8 The proposed section 43G seeks to regulate a person's participation in or representations to the market inquiry. It draws a distinction between participation in the market inquiry and the opportunity to make representations to the market inquiry. It also empowers the inquiry to solicit information through questionnaires, requests for information and responses to submissions made by the Competition Commission.

3.24 Clauses 26 and 27

- 3.24.1 Clauses 26 and 27 of the Bill amend the sections of the Act relating to information that is claimed to be confidential and access to information that is confidential. Often disputes relating to the disclosure of information are time consuming and delay the speedy determination of the main matter. The amendments streamline the determination of these issues.
- 3.24.2 The new section 45(3) provides the Minister with the right of access to confidential information and makes this right itself subject to honouring the confidentiality provisions of the Act and using the information for the purposes of the Act, any other law or when the Minister has reasonable grounds to believe the information discloses a potential criminal offence. This is necessary in order to give effect to the Minister's right to intervene and make representations in the public interest. The same applies to other Ministers or regulatory authorities who are involved in proceedings in terms of the Act. In the case of other Ministers and regulatory authorities, the Tribunal may override the right of access to confidential documents.

3.25 Clause 28

Clause 28 of the Bill seeks to amend section 49D of the Act. This amendment enables parties to agree to consent orders after a market inquiry. This allows the Commission and the parties to avoid contested legal proceedings at the Tribunal.

3.26 Clause 29

Clause 29 of the Bill inserts a new section 49E in the Act. Section 49E provides for the adoption of a leniency policy by the Commission and empowers it to grant leniency. This is in line with case law.

3.27 Clause 30

Clause 30 of the Bill seeks to amend section 54 of the Act. This amendment provides the Tribunal with the power to amend and withdraw a direction and summons. This reflects the current case law and will prevent overly technical points about this matter.

3.28 Clause 31

Clause 31 of the Bill seeks to amend section 58 of the Act. This amendment empowers the Tribunal to use any of the remedies permitted under the Act to address the findings of the Commission following a market inquiry.

3.29 Clause 32

3.29.1 Clause 32 of the Bill seeks to amend section 59 of the Act. Section 59 regulates the administrative penalties that the Tribunal may impose.

3.29.2 The amendments provide for the imposition of administrative penalties for all contraventions of the Act, even offences in respect of non-specific contraventions, which are set out in section 4(1)(a), 5(1), 8(c) or 9(1). Penalties for non-specific exclusionary acts are left to the discretion of the Tribunal. The Tribunal's decision must consider the factors listed in subsection (3).

3.29.3 The proposed amendment to section 59(3)(d) of the Act requires the Tribunal to take into account the impact of the contravention upon small and medium businesses and firms owned by historically disadvantaged persons when determining the quantum of the administrative penalty.

3.29.4 The proposed insertion of subsection (2A) increases the maximum administrative penalty to 25% of a firm's annual turnover in the Republic and its exports from the Republic during the firm's preceding financial year if the conduct is substantially a repeat by the same firm of conduct previously found to be a prohibited practice.

3.29.5 In addition, the proposed insertion of subsection (3A) allows for the administrative penalty to be increased by the turnover of any firm that controls the firm that is found to have engaged in a prohibited practice and to make the controlling firm jointly and severally liable for the penalty. This will encourage the controlling firm to institute checks upon the firm it controls.

3.30 Clause 33

Clause 33 of the Bill seeks to amend section 60 of the Act. These amendments enable divestiture as a remedy following a market inquiry on terms that have regard to the purposes of the Act, with the safeguard that a divestiture remedy can only be imposed by the Tribunal, on recommendation from the Commission. In addition, the parties and the Commission have the right of appeal to the Competition Appeal Court.

3.31 Clauses 34 and 35

Clauses 34 and 35 of the Bill seek to amend sections 62 and 63 of the Act. The amendments, which deal with appeals from the Competition Appeal Court, bring the Competition Act in line with amendments to the Constitution.

3.32 Clause 36

Clause 36 of the Bill seeks to amend section 67 of the Act. Section 67 regulates the prescription of claims. The amendment clarifies the wording of the section so that firms cannot argue that the Commission is unable to investigate the matter because it has prescribed. The Commission must be able to investigate a matter to determine whether it has prescribed.

3.33 Clause 37

Clause 37 of the Bill seeks to amend section 74 of the Act. The amendment increases the fine for offences relating to the administration of the Act from R2 000 to R10 000.

3.34 Clause 38

Clause 38 of the Bill seeks to amend section 79 of the Act. Section 79 concerns guidelines issued by the Commission. The amendments provide for a process of consultation before the guidelines may be published. The amendments require a body interpreting or applying the Act to take the guidelines into account even though they are not binding.

3.35 Clause 39

Clause 39 of the Bill seeks to insert section 79A in the Act. This amendment empowers the Minister to make regulations concerning the issuing of advisory opinions by the Competition Commission.

3.36 Clause 40

Clause 40 of the Bill seeks to amend section 82 of the Act. This section requires regulatory authorities to negotiate co-operation agreements with the Competition Commission. The amendment extends the issues that must be the subject of this agreement to matters associated with market inquiries.

3.37 Clause 41

Clause 41 of the Bill seeks to amend section 83 of the Act. This amendment is a transitional provision and provides for the continued applicability of the Commission's present leniency policy until a new one is published in terms of section 49E of the Act.

3.38 Clause 43

Clause 43 of the Bill provides for the short title and commencement of the Act.

4. OTHER DEPARTMENTS AND BODIES CONSULTED

- 4.1 A panel of legal and economic experts was constituted, which included members of both the Competition Commission and Tribunal.
- 4.2 The Economic Sectors and Employment Cluster within government were consulted.
- 4.3 Following the publication of the Bill, more than 60 public submissions were received and considered. These included submissions by the social partners (business associations and organised labour), individual companies, members of the legal profession, economic consultancies and academics.
- 4.3 The Minister addressed a number of public conferences dealing with the theme of economic inclusion and competition, which fostered interaction with legal practitioners and academics.
- 4.4 Extensive consultation with key stakeholders on the contents of the Bill were held, which included five meetings at the National Economic Development and Labour Council (NEDLAC). Additional bilateral meetings were held with Business Unity South Africa (BUSA), Business Leadership South Africa (BLSA), the Black Business Council (BBC) and representatives of the labour federations represented at NEDLAC—the Congress of South African Trade Unions (COSATU), the Federation of Unions of South Africa (FEDUSA) and the National Council of Trade Unions (NACTU). Further consultations were held with representatives of the Competition Commission, Tribunal and Competition Appeal Court. Where appropriate, changes were made to the Bill to take account of their concerns and representations.
- 4.5 A Socio-Economic Impact Assessment (SEAIS) was completed and subsequently certified by the Department of Planning, Monitoring and Evaluation (DPME).

5. FINANCIAL IMPLICATIONS FOR STATE

The changes proposed by the Bill will require additional capacity in the Competition Commission, for expertise to be sourced for market inquiries. The financial implications will depend on the number of market inquiries to be conducted. During 2017, adjustments were made to the filing fees charged during merger proceedings by the Commission and Tribunal, in order to strengthen the institutions' financial capacity. Discussions for further fiscal support will take place through the normal budgetary processes to address the need for additional resources.

6. PARLIAMENTARY PROCEDURE

- 6.1 The State Law Advisers and the Department are of the opinion that this Bill must be dealt with in accordance with the procedure established by section 75 of the Constitution since it contains no provision to which the procedure set out in section 74 or 76 of the Constitution applies.
- 6.2 As noted above, the Bill regulates matters relating to competition within the South African economic system. The Bill does not affect the concurrent provincial legislative competences in Schedule 4 to the Constitution.
- 6.3 Section 44(1)(b)(ii) of the Constitution provides that legislation with regard to any matter within a functional area listed in Schedule 4 and any other matter required by the Constitution must follow the section 76 route. Section 76(3) of the Constitution further provides that a Bill that falls within a functional area listed in Schedule 4 to the Constitution or which provides for legislation envisaged in any of the sections listed in paragraphs (a) to (f) of section 76(3) must be dealt with in accordance with the procedure established by section 76(1) or (2) of the Constitution.

- 6.4 Section 44(1)(b)(iii) of the Constitution, on the other hand, provides that any other legislation must be considered in accordance with section 75 of the Constitution. Section 75 of the Constitution provides for a Bill, other than a Bill to which the procedure set out in section 74 or 76 applies, to be dealt with in accordance with the procedure set out in section 75.
- 6.5 In this regard, the Constitutional Court, in *Tongoane and Others v Minister for Agriculture and Land Affairs and Others*⁴, per Ngcobo CJ, stated as follows:
- “[72] To summarise: any Bill whose provisions substantially affect the interests of the provinces must be enacted in accordance with the procedure stipulated in section 76. This naturally includes proposed legislation over which the provinces themselves have concurrent legislative power, but it goes further. It includes Bills providing for legislation envisaged in the further provisions set out in section 76(3)(a)-(f), over which the provinces have no legislative competence, as well as Bills the main substance of which falls within the exclusive national competence, but the provisions of which nevertheless substantially affect the provinces. What must be stressed, however, is that the procedure envisaged in section 75 remains relevant to all Bills that do not, in substantial measure, affect the provinces. Whether a Bill is a section 76 Bill is determined in two ways. First, by the explicit list of legislative matters in section 76(3) (a)-(f), and second by whether the provisions of a Bill in substantial measure fall within a concurrent provincial legislative competence.”.
- 6.6 Accordingly, the provisions of the Bill do not affect the provinces in substantial measure. The Bill’s provisions further do not, in substantial measure, fall within a concurrent provincial legislative competence nor affect any of the explicit list of matters listed in section 76(3) of the Constitution. In the light of the above, therefore, the Bill should be dealt with in accordance with the procedure stipulated in section 75 of the Constitution, and should thus be tagged as a section 75 Bill.
- 6.7 The State Law Advisers are of the opinion that it is not necessary to refer this Bill to the National House of Traditional Leaders in terms of section 18(1)(a) of the Traditional Leadership and Governance Framework Act, 2003 (Act No. 41 of 2003), since it does not contain provisions pertaining to customary law or customs of traditional communities.
